About Us

02

The foundation is being started by like-minded individuals with the aim to do our part in making our society and in turn our country great. To do that we aim to instill a culture of honest conversation, open dialogue and being the change that we want to see.

We as a group believe, time for talk is over and we can get into action even if it might appear miniscule. We will without a doubt do our meaningful part in setting our country onto a path for greater heights. We clearly want to get into three areas that we believe will define the aspirations of 'new' India.

- 1.) Skilling - from job seeking in stage 1 to job creation in stage
- 2.) Dialogue for Development.
- 3.) Organic farming, living with needs in control and an alternate model of development.

03

Mission

- To facilitate a movement of volunteering
- To empower and enable individuals to become positive change agents
- To enable institutions to effectively engage community to deliver services
- To promote sustainable lifestyles

Vision

With the aim to contribute our part in making our society and in turn our country great.

Volunteering Models

04

Weekday Volunteering

Give a few hours for 2-3 days during the week. This is most suitable for people who work on their own schedules, homemakers and retirees.

Short Term Intern

Volunteer every day for one month or more during the semester breaks. College students who wish to learn more about the social sector can benefit from this model. We will provide certificates after the intern completes the project.

Weekend Volunteering

Spare a few hours on weekends. This is ideal for professionals and college students.

Long Term Intern

Volunteer every day for 6 months after graduation to gain deeper understanding of the social sector and contribute significantly. This is suitable for those looking for a perspective altering experience and an arena to do meaningful work. We will reimburse all reasonable expenditures incurred during this time.

Virtual Volunteering

People with special skills like creative writing, movie making, website creation, graphics design, etc. can help us with backend tasks.

Volunteer Professional Services

One can offer professional skills to serve community's needs. Doctors, auditors, lawyers writers or any other professional can offer their professional services.

The foundation is being started by like-minded individuals with the aim to contribute our part in making our society and in turn our country great. To do that we aim to instill a culture of honest conversation, open dialogue and being the change that we want to see.

05

Too much pessimism is being woven into our national fabric with corruption, lack of accountability and zero to nil enlightened leadership continuing to be our bane. The bulk of talents that resides in rural India is not finding an outlet to express itself. Its voice remains to be heard and is feeble for a long time. The current growth trajectory that is widening the gulf between the rich and poor, despite the governments' best of intentions might throw all of the recent decadal gains under the bus, if the course correction doesn't happen soon. What is most surprising is that people have gotten used to corruption as a way of life and leadership at the political office level is kept at a very low threshold and that enables all the undesirable character to wield power.

The way forward:

As a group we believe the time for talks is over and we can get into action even if it might appear miniscule. We will without a doubt do our meaningful part in setting our country onto a path for greater heights. We clearly want to get into three areas that we believe will define the aspirations of 'new' India.

06

1. Skilling - from Job Seeking in stage 1 to job creation in stage 2: We would like to start a dedicated program to skill youths who have a basic degree or in their final year of graduation. The core emphasis of this program will be on building communication skills, critical thinking ability and helping them to be confident and maybe not be perfect individuals, which our current education system is intending to do. We have partnered with Valluvar College of Science & Management, Karur and that will be our first base. We will be upgrading one seminar hall with facilities needed to deliver the course. Once they are trained, we intend to facilitate placements for them.

2. Dialogue for Development: This dialogue series that will be hosted will try to bring the best of speakers available in urban areas to rural audiences. We will be organizing awareness workshops on topics of pertinent interest that include - pressing national issues, good politics and political leadership, development needs of the local areas, best of writers, new and innovative ideas to infuse fresh energy and dynamism among the audience. This will be a half-yearly affair in Karur, Coimbatore and Mangalore.

3. Organic farming, living with needs in control and an alternate model of development: Rural areas which were cradles of civilization have become living hells now with people migrating en masse. Mahatma Gandhi memorably said, 'India lives in its villages' and now the apt representation would be, 'Indian villages live with its belly up'. Many of our reckless policies and blind aping of the west have taken us to this stage. We aim to shift the focus back to agriculture and that too in an organic way, educating people on their needs and wants and importantly to promote an alternate and an Indian way of living. This has to go through the route of conversation building - experimentation - encouraging and finally funding. We are committed to cracking this seemingly tough problem.

We might not have arrived at the most apt model now but we have the best of intentions to keep evolving.

Come, let's act now !!!

The WTLF Logo - Lead The Change

We The Leaders Foundation is rooted in three areas that believe will define the aspirations of 'New' India.

Organic farming

The aim is to shift the focus back to agriculture and precisely in an organic way, educating people on their needs and wants and importantly to promote an alternate and an Indian way of living. This has to go through the route of conversation building - experimentation - encouraging and finally funding.

Skilling

The core emphasis of this area will be on building communication skills, critical thinking ability and helping them to be confident and maybe not be perfect individuals, which our current education system is intending to do.

Dialogue for Development

We believe it is crucial to get to the 'root cause' of an individual's temperament by providing them with their true underlying motivations, and giving them an understanding of how that leads to their visible behaviour.

A Glimpse of Our Volunteering Activities - Q4 (2019-20)

Launch Event - We The Leaders Foundation & Official Website

We The Leaders Foundation is the result of a congregation of like minded individuals who strive to make the society a better place to live. The country is nothing but a reflection of its people and its societies and this is the core aspect on which the organization's goals and objectives were arrived at and the culmination of such ideas resulted in what we call as "We The Leaders Foundation".

A brainchild of Mr. Annamalai K, Former IPS Officer and the Chief Servant of We The Leaders Foundation and other like minded personalities from various walks of life, this organization aims at instilling a culture of honest conversation, open dialogue and being the change that we wish to see!

Our organisation's prime focus is on creating and establishing able and competent leaders in all walks of life to hold accountability and moral responsibility for the betterment and the improvement of the society that we live in which has been seriously affected by the pessimistic approach by people involved in corruption, lack of accountability and incompetence in their leadership.

Our organisation aims to harness the best of the potential from rural India's population who are unable to express themselves given the fact that there aren't many platforms or guidance to channel these untapped hidden potentials.

WTLF also recorded its first 63 volunteers' registration in the event.

Date: 14th March 2020 (Saturday)

Place of Activity: Karur, Tamilnadu

We The Leaders Foundation has been actively involved in its commitment to work towards its motto "Lead The Change".

The journey towards the path of bringing a change and realising the dream initiated in quarter four of FY 2019-20 and our volunteers have been highly successful in executing various projects and events that aim to bring us closer to building a better society for tomorrow.

We look to make a positive impact by churning out and moulding the raw untapped potential of many youngsters in the country hailing from rural parts of India. We highly look forward to build and expand our mission to a much broader set of the population and create the Change we all intend to see.

Every goal comes at its own costs and We The Leaders Foundation has been actively involved in trying to effectively make use of its resources and manage all its needs for a sustained service till now but as we look to expand and make a positive change, we would highly feel gratified and appreciate your support in making us realise our dreams.

We appeal to you to make your generous contributions which will be used in highly meaningful ways to empower and train the society and create leaders who will lead by example and train others in the process of ensuring a collective growth as a community!

Thank you
